HOUSEHOLD SELECTION PROTOCOL:

- Three attempts should be made at different times when you are in the PSU (or on different days) to recruit an eligible respondent from the randomly selected household. Ideally at least one attempt should be made on the weekend, if you are in the area over the weekend.
- If after three attempts it is still not possible to recruit an eligible candidate from the randomly selected household, the household will need to be replaced by counting three households past the last main household along the walking path. In each replacement household, the interviewer will make up to three attempts to secure an interview. If the attempts to recruit an eligible respondent at the replacement household are unsuccessful, the interviewer will continue to use the right-hand rule and the interval of three households to select the next replacement household. This process will be repeated until the required number of completed interviews is obtained in the selected PSU.

INTRODUCTION TO FIRST CONTACT:

Interviewer read: Good morning/afternoon. My name is [interviewer name] and I work for a research company called ORCA. We are an independent company, and we are not affiliated with the government or any other organization here in Afghanistan or abroad. We are conducting a study about health and family well-being and we are talking to many people across the country. Your household has been selected to participate purely by chance. Today I need to speak to one person in your household and I need your help to select that person. His or her answers will be completely confidential. The interview needs to be done in private between the selected member of the household and the interviewer.

May we proceed? Please feel free to interrupt me if you have any questions. [If first contact gives consent, record on contact sheet and proceed to the selected respondent. If first contact refuses, leave the house and record the refusal on contact sheet.]

YES / NO (circle response)

IF FIRST CONTACT AGREES: Including yourself, how many people who are residents of Afghanistan, age 18 or older, currently live in this household*?

NOTE: Definition of household:

- Household is a dwelling in which members live permanently in that dwelling and have a cooking facility (such as a stove, a fire in the courtyard, etc. – any basic cooking facility is valid).
- In the case of communal living where multiple families live in an apartment, a household is defined by a shared cooking pot. That is, members who share food cooked from a common pot or shared from the same budget are considered a household.
- In Afghanistan, a small portion of the population lives in compounds. For our surveys: those who live in compounds and use separate cooking facilities and separate budgets are considered as several households not a single household. But those who live in compounds and use the same cooking facility and same budget are considered a single household.
- All interviews will be attempted at a person’s home, which can be anything from a hut to a single house

_____ Total number of adults in household

00 None

CONFIDENTIAL

SELECTION OF RESPONDENT FOR INTERVIEWING:

- List all of the female adults ages 18 to 59 living in the household (together with their ages) whether or not they are currently present in the household. Start with the oldest and work down to the youngest.

Record total number of women age 18 to 59 (for use in Kish Grid below): _____

- Take the last figure of the questionnaire serial number and find the same number in the top line of the Kish Grid below.

Record last digit of the questionnaire serial number (for use in Kish Grid below): _____

- Look down that column and read off the number opposite the total number of women in the household. That number is the key to the member of the household who should be interviewed.
- Refer back to the list of female family members and ask to speak to the person whose number is the same as the one you have taken out of the Kish Grid.
